Today I vacuumed under the dining table. Under Mom’s chair, I noticed a tiny white pill. With her poor vision, she was always dropping those tiny white pills. Later, I went grocery shopping for the first time since Mom died. I didn’t buy apple juice or fresh-baked muffins. That’s what Mom ate for breakfast. I prefer scrambled eggs and coffee. No more tiny white pills. No more apple juice or muffins.

In this year of so much loss and change, of wishing everything could be the way it was before, Mom’s death is by far the biggest loss and change for me. Many of you are also grappling with tremendous loss, the sort of loss that pokes at us in a thousand small ways throughout the day and keeps us awake at night.

At the same time, all of us are dealing with the loss and change of living through a global pandemic. We worship on-line and miss seeing each other face-to-face; miss hugs and a chance to check in each week. I see children on facebook, marveling at how fast they grow; how much we’re missing their energy and curiosity, how much they’re missing our nurture and affection. I hear from families struggling with too much together time and others separated, even isolated, from those they love.

So little is certain or predictable. I remember last year, my first year, as October introduced me to autumn traditions at Memorial—the Fall Extravaganza and the Halloween Carnival; preparing for the Pasty and Cookie sales and the Christmas Dinner. I realize how those anticipated events and the routines of Choir and Bell rehearsal, the Knitters and Quilters sharing mid-morning tea, the Men’s Breakfasts, and Pickleball drew us more deeply into one another’s lives. Each week promised reliable connections. Each month called us to work together.

But this is 2020, when it seems each day offers more loss or change, another reminder we aren’t doing that this year, we can’t connect that way for now. The road we’d grown accustomed to traveling is under construction, perhaps washed out entirely this year.

Still, we are finding a new way, we’re making the road by walking, step by step, day by day. Here’s what keeps me at it: You and God. I know we’re not alone in our loss and change. We have each other, and God has us all. And, I know it won’t always be this way. I’ve tripped over chaotic loss and change before and, in time, found my stride again. Most of you have too. So have those who came before us, all the way back to the earliest Christians. In time, we may even find this new road we’re making, and those we’re making it with will offer blessings and opportunities we’d never imagined possible when everything was the way it used to be.

For now, I take time to cry when I must, laugh when I can, be grateful for what I do have, and look for God’s goodness and grace wherever the road we’re making together takes us.

God bless you all, Pastor Cathy

Worship Themes

On-line, available any time after 8:30 a.m. Sundays

Online Worship including music, sermon, scripture, liturgies, and prayers premieres every Sunday morning at 8:30 and then continues to be available. The themes until late November are based on Brian McLaren's book We Make the Way by Walking. The worship video experience can be greatly enhanced by participating in a Learning Circle. Each week the learning circles read a short devotional and then discuss questions which begin the pondering process for the up-coming Sunday's sermon. Pastor Cathy is leading a small group on Mondays at 6pm. Alternately, you can form your own group (possibly with family members or others that you are already associating with). Books with the weekly devotional & questions are available. If you have a group but no one who feels comfortable leading, please contact the church office.

World Communion Sunday

The first Sunday of October is World Communion Sunday, celebrated by many denominations across the world. This Sunday, Memorial UMC will have in-person communion at our 10:30 prayer service and also virtually with the on-line Worship Experience which premieres every Sunday morning at 8:30 and can be viewed any time after that. If you are participating virtually, don't forget to pick up bread and grape juice at the store.

The United Methodist Church also has a special offering every year on World Communion Sunday. Your gifts to World Communion Sunday support three programs. Ethnic In-Service Training (non-degree) and Ethnic Scholarships for U.S. and international undergraduates studying in the U.S. are related to the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry. World Communion Sunday scholarships – related to the General Board of Global Ministries – assist graduate students from the U.S. and other countries. Your gift marked “World Communion Sunday” empowers a diverse mix of national and international ethnic young adults to make a global impact for Christ.

Prayer Services every Sunday at 10:30AM.

Each week we pray for those on our prayer list, share concerns, and focus on a different prayer theme.

- Oct. 4 World Communion Sunday,
Prayers for Immigrants and Refugees
- Oct. 11 Indigenous People
- Oct. 18 Forgiveness and Reconciliation
- Oct. 25 Reformation Sunday:
Courage to Speak and Act for Reform

Venison Project

Please spread the word to all hunters that if they are interested in donating their deer to help feed hungry people, they can take their field dressed deer to Steve Soderman's on Days River Road, Viau's in Escanaba, or the Garden Mini Mart. All three of these will process the meat for free, although if you are taking the deer to Garden Mini Mart, you must first skin the deer.

Pictorial Directory – Last Chance

Did you miss getting your picture taken for the directory? You can still submit a picture by Oct. 7. The best way is to send it via email to the church. However, you can also bring in an actual picture, and we will do our best to scan it here. The company does charge us $10 per picture that we submit, so we will ask for a $10 donation from you to have your picture put in the directory unless you live far away or were homebound and completely unable to come in.

If you are not 100% certain that the church has your correct address, phone number, and email address, please call the church Monday – Thursday 9-2 at 428-9311, or you can email that information to mumc@gladstonechurch.org
Please submit picture and all edits by Oct. 7.

Charge Conference Tuesday, October 20
 6:30 Staff-Parish with District Superintendent
 7:30 Charge Conference

Usually we have a Church Conference where we encourage all Church members to attend. However, in the interest of limiting crowd size, the District Superintendent is calling instead a Charge Conference at 7:30, which involves the District Superintendent, Pastor, Church Council members, and any retired UM clergy at Memorial UMC. The Charge Conference will cover just required agenda items: pastoral compensation, membership report, election of leadership, and recommendation of candidates for ministry. The plan is to meet in-person but, should a ZOOM meeting be necessary, that will be easier with a smaller group of people.

Extra packets will be available on the long table by the front door.

The Trustees are looking for people to help with:

- Painting the outside door by the Grapevine Room
- Doing an inventory of our equipment, furniture, etc.

Videos, Books, and Puzzles

Bored at home? There are some Disney and other family-friendly videos in the youth room by the TV. Feel free to borrow a few.

Also, don't forget to borrow a few great books from the church library and a puzzle or two on top of the cabinet in the church library.

Dear Memorial United Methodist Church,
